

Editor's Comment:

The editorial decisions are as follows:

1. The authors are requested to revise the manuscript to address the comments from the second reviewer (Yasmin), provide a detailed response to these comments, and highlight the corresponding revisions in the manuscript. The revised manuscript can then be reviewed either by the original reviewer or by the academic editor.
2. To meet the journal's publication timeline, it is noted that neither reviewer indicated significant flaws in the manuscript's structure, research methods, or results. Both reviewers primarily suggested adding references and elaborating on the research content to enhance the manuscript. Therefore, it is acceptable to approve the manuscript for publication after the authors make every effort to address the comments.
