

Editor's Comment:

I studied the materials you've sent to me and now I see the following. The interesting manuscript was deeply evaluated by two very competent and independent experts. Both of them did remarks demanding minor revisions, but one of the reviewers preferred to call them major revisions. The author(s) agreed with these remarks and made multiple and serious revisions in the manuscript improving it sufficiently. I suppose these changes are enough and satisfactory, the paper will be ready for publication.
