Optional/General comments	In my opinion, in the field of climate change, there is less literature on birds in the Nearctic than in the literature on birds in the Palaearctic and for this reason the authors should take advantage of this gap. authors should take advantage of this gap by looking for a specific topic to expand on. In general terms, this article is in line with the general lines of this journal and for this reason it should be accepted. The author(s) should select a biological set and expand on it as much as possible and not deal with such general topics as reproduction, etc. This would increase the scientific interest of the article.	We have carefully considered your feedback and made the necessary changes to improve the clarity and depth of the article. The additional references you recommended have been included, and We have revised sections to address your concerns. Your input has been invaluable in strengthening the overall quality of the work, and We truly appreciate your time and effort.
