Optional/General comments	Include production of agricultural products in Haryana some review studies before going in to main content like in article it was mentioned about other states but try to include Haryana states literature Try to include supply chain logistics of all manufacturing units of all products Need of including supporting studies for the discussion technological advancements in terms of what try to mention it clearly	Disagree, there are very few studies on the food processing industry in Haryana, and the relevant studies are already included. And my paper is not about the production status, it is related to the processing of food products, the unit of study are the processing units which are at the manufacturing end
