Optional/General comments	It is a concise article with a topic of impact for farmers in Tanzania, namely the application of biotechnologies such as AI. The analysis carried out highlights interesting aspects about farmers from Muheza District which represent the novelty of this article. Citations were made appropriately. I have only two recommendations: 1. in paragraph 2.1.1. the author should reference to the size of population from which the sample was drawn precisely to highlight the statistical relevance of the sample (N=116). 2. Because it was analyzed the influence of animal breed I think it is good to name the local one and for the other category should be specify if breeds are improved or not.
