

Editor's Comment:

No need to send it again. I found it! I have read the original paper and the comments made by the reviewers. I have also read the corrected version and found that the authors implemented well the suggestions made by the reviewers. I have also found that the use of the English language in the writing of the paper is well done. It is my opinion that the paper is ready for publication in the Asian Journal of Research and Reports in Neurology. Please let me know if you need further information on my part. Please receive warmest regards.
